

THE HEALTH OF OUR MATERNAL HEALTH

WHO WE ARE

At AmeriHealth Caritas District of Columbia (DC), we are committed to providing our enrollees with access to quality health care and outstanding enrollee services. We utilize our long-standing community ties to deliver Medicaid managed care for thousands of people a year in the District.

WHO WE SERVE

PROJECT OVERVIEW

AmeriHealth Caritas DC has a high volume of maternity health-related data in various forms; however, this multi-format and multi-location data environment can limit clarity and usability of the data. There is a need to improve organization and aggregation of the available data in order to gain better clarity on the health of our maternal health program.

PROJECT GOALS

- Enhance maternal health surveillance by improving data architecture through a robust dashboard to capture and report key data elements needed to create specific interventions that address pre-pregnancy medical and social needs.
- Identify a process to assess barriers that may be preventing enrollees from engaging with care during their pregnancy.

MATERNAL HEALTH IN CRISIS

In 2021, 1,205 women died of maternal causes in the United States.¹

2-3X

Black women are two to three times more likely to die from pregnancy-related complications than white women, with most of the maternal deaths being preventable.²

90%

Black birthing people account for approximately 90% of birth-related deaths in the District³
